

JOURNALISM FOR SOCIAL CHANGE

Course Dates: January 6 - February 19, 2015

Want to Enroll? ➔ <http://bit.ly/j4sc1> ← More Information?

Course participants will:

- ❑ Explore the intersection of journalism, public policy, and child welfare through lectures and videos by experts in the fields.
- ❑ Produce solution-based, policy-driven journalism that can inspire social change.
- ❑ Focus on solutions to endemic problems facing children and their families.
- ❑ Publish stories on The Chronicle of Social Change.

Instructor Bio

Daniel Heimpel (MS, Journalism, USC) is founder of Fostering Media Connections (FMC) and the 2010 recipient of the Child Welfare League of America's Ann Quindlen Award for Excellent in Journalism on Behalf of Children and Families.

Course Information

- ▶ Estimated time required 2-4 hours / week
- ▶ Enrollment limited to 150 registrants
- ▶ Course is entirely online at edx.org
- ▶ No enrollment fees; the course is FREE!
- ▶ No credits, including CEUs, are awarded

Register via QR code

Sponsored by:

GOLDMAN SCHOOL
OF
PUBLIC POLICY
UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA BERKELEY